You've gathered all the broken-hearted

You've brought together all the sleeping

You've gathered all the dead in spirit

You've gathered all the disillusioned

You've brought together all the hiding

You've gathered all the blind and hungry

Here we will be siezed by your greatest affections

Led when we've lost our direction, by word and wind

Here we will find the love of our brothers and sisters

Suffering and laughing together, by word and wind

You've gathered all the unaccepted

You've brought together all the trembling

You've gathered all the faded fires

You've gathered all the disappointed

You've brought together all the seeking

You've gathered all the proud and stubborn

Here we will be siezed by your greatest affections

Led when we've lost our direction, by word and wind

Here we will find the love of our brothers and sisters

Suffering and laughing together, by word and wind

Jesus, our lover and weeping groom

Our submission is our love for you

Jesus, our lover and weeping groom

Our obedience, our gift to you
